The Hiram College Women’s Soccer “11 Lead” Camp is a unique experience that goes beyond the traditional soccer camp experience. Three factors set the program apart:

- 11 Lead engages EVERY participant in an NCAA-endorsed leadership development education training that will allow them to discover their unique behavioral leadership style through a formal assessment and practice that participants will be able to take with them and apply to all aspects of their life as a student-athlete
- 11 Lead raises the expectations of participants to “train to the level” of collegiate players through fitness and strength training elements, injury prevention programming and training, and by offering a competitive atmosphere in every element of the camp program
- 11 Lead provides an atmosphere through which players who are focused on securing a position within a collegiate soccer program can be identified and receive direct & formal feedback from experienced coaches about the necessary steps to success

*Camp fee covers all expenses except the camper's individual spending money.
